INAUGURAL STATEMENT OF
H.E. TURGUT ÖZAL, PRESIDENT OF THE REPUBLIC OF TURKEY AND CHAIRMAN OF COMCEC
AT THE JOINT OPENING CEREMONY
OF THE SIXTH SESSION OF THE COMCEC
AND THE FIRST OIC MINISTERIAL MEETING
ON TECHNICAL COOPERATION

(Istanbul, 9 October 1990)

Honourable Delegates,
Distinguished Guests,

As I welcome you to Turkey, I would like to express my pleasure in inaugurating the Sixth Session of the COMCEC and the First Ministerial Meeting on Technical Cooperation.

It is an honour and a pleasant duty to assume the Chairmanship of the COMCEC Sessions, which I have attended as Alternate Chairman since its inception. I would first like to state that we shall exert our utmost efforts towards the realization of more effective cooperation and the development of commercial relations among Member Countries, to which I am convinced all our countries attach great importance.

Your valuable support, assistance, and contribution are undoubtedly the driving force behind our success. There is ever increasing need for strong solidarity among our countries in the face of prevailing world conditions. We are all aware of the fact that we are living in a period of rapid change. An event occurring today may become history tomorrow. However, although races, beliefs or colours may differ, the need to strive for a better life, in peace and harmony, never changes. Consequently, the international community, and we in particular, must work hand in hand to bridge the gap between the developed and the developing, the rich and the poor countries. Otherwise, we must accept that we may have to witness highly undesirable developments in the near future.

The crucial importance of economic cooperation to be developed among our countries is felt more than ever in the face of radical economic and political changes taking place in the world today.

I am convinced that economic cooperation and solidarity among our countries will also play a decisive role in preventing the emergence of potential problems in our community.

In this context, I would like to reiterate our most sincere wishes for a peaceful solution of the Gulf crisis before it turns into an armed conflict.

The Sessions of the COMCEC, as platforms where concrete projects relating to economic cooperation among Member Countries are taken up, have established their excellence both at OIC level and in similar world fora. Indeed, it would not be erroneous to say that the sustained interest in COMCEC Sessions is largely due to the fact that, despite distressing misunderstandings and problems which sometimes arise among Member Countries, these are not reflected in the deliberations which are restricted to the projects on the agenda.

I am convinced that all of you share my belief that such an approach, both at this Session and during forthcoming COMCEC Sessions, will be highly beneficial.

Distinguished Delegates,

Structural and radical changes which closely concern our countries have been taking place on the world economic scene. The most important of such changes are the developments related to the conversion of the European Common Market into a Single Market and its probable repercussions on our countries, the structural changes in Eastern Europe and the Soviet Union, and the developments in world trade and GATT negotiations.

The continuous technological developments occurring in the world today in the fields of communications and transport and the increasing movement of capital, labour and services at international level have led to further globalization of world economy. This state of affairs has enhanced productivity and boosted trade, hence creating opportunities for higher incomes by fostering capital and labour exchange among countries with different income levels. As a result of the increasing complexity of economic relations, any development in any part of the world has an impact on all the countries. However, as a protection against possible negative effects of this interaction, which increases proportionately with the globalization of world economy, an increase has been observed in the efforts of countries to establish regional economic integration schemes among themselves.

The European Single Market, the US-Canadian free trade zone, the integration efforts among Asian-Pacific countries and finally some of the economic groupings in our community could be cited as examples of such regional economic integration schemes.

The realization in 1992 of the project aiming at the integration of the Western European Market will turn the European Community, with its population of 320 million and income level of $6 trillion, into the world's largest market. The orientation of the economic impacts of this situation on developing countries, and consequently on our community, will depend on results obtained either through promotion or restriction of trade by the Single Market. The work carried out by the European Community Commission indicates that there will be a 10% decrease in the imports of industrial products following the removal of the barriers. This negative impact may be increased further should special trade agreements be signed between the Community and Eastern European Countries.
In spite of the significant reductions in customs tariffs, implemented by industrialized countries as a result of the GATT negotiations carried on up to date, an increase in non-tariff barriers has been observed lately. I should like to emphasize my belief that the liberalization of world trade will, in the long term, be beneficial to everybody. Indeed, it has been estimated that the cost of the protectionist measures which enable a worker to keep his job in the textile industry in the U.S.A. amounts to four times his annual wages. On the other hand, the protectionism implemented in developing countries greatly increases the cost for consumers and industrialists requiring import inputs, the result being a decrease in productivity.

The GATT trade negotiations initiated in Uruguay and expected to be concluded at the end of this year will undoubtedly contribute positively to liberal world trade, provided disagreements can be smoothed away. In fact, the negotiations cover not only traditional commercial goods, but also agriculture, services and investments. I believe that the active role of our countries in these negotiations will be beneficial.

Your Excellencies,
Distinguished Delegates,

Economic growth, with its ultimate objective of raising the level of individual welfare, is therefore the most decisive factor in strengthening internal peace. Economic development is at the same time an important factor in the realization and consolidation of the structural changes and administrative reforms necessary to the development of our countries.

The swift changes and further globalization of economic relations taking place in the world indicate that measures taken within national boundaries will not be sufficient to ensure the economic growth and raise the welfare level of our countries, and emphasize the increasing importance of international economic cooperation.

Under conditions prevailing in the world today, it is imperative to strengthen economic and commercial cooperation among our countries in order to ensure a higher welfare level in our community. Close and lasting cooperation will in turn be possible only through a rational approach and by matching our real capacity and potential with our action, as well as by clearly defining our objectives.

The adoption of a cooperation strategy to be implemented through regional groupings among Islamic countries, spread over an extensive geographical area with attendant differences in structure, needs and economic connections, could be considered profitable in defining and achieving these objectives.

The success obtained in the field of economic cooperation shall undoubtedly be the result of your valuable and positive contribution.
The initiation of activities and projects under the umbrella of COMCEC in the fields of trade, industry, agriculture, transport, communications and energy has so far constituted a useful starting point for beneficial cooperation among Member States. The Ministerial Meeting on Technical Cooperation, to be held concurrently with the COMCEC Session, will discuss issues that shall further contribute to the fields of cooperation taken up so far. I sincerely hope these activities will be successful and encourage us even more in the future.

In this context, I would like to point out the wisdom of the decision, reached at the last Islamic Conference of Foreign Ministers held in Cairo, to review the Economic Cooperation Action Plan implemented by the COMCEC in the light of current world developments. Indeed, since 1981, when the Action Plan had been adopted, significant changes occurring in the world have made it imperative for us to add new topics to the economic cooperation among our countries and to highlight certain existing themes. It would be an appropriate decision of the Sixth Summit Conference, to be held in Dakar next year, to entrust the COMCEC with the revision of the Action Plan.

In conclusion, I should like to express once more my pleasure in welcoming you to Turkey and wish you full success in your work.

STATEMENT OF H.E. YILDIRIM AKBULUT,
PRIME MINISTER OF THE REPUBLIC OF TURKEY
AND ALTERNATE CHAIRMAN OF COMCEC
AT THE JOINT OPENING CEREMONY
OF THE SIXTH SESSION OF THE COMCEC
AND THE FIRST OIC MINISTERIAL MEETING ON TECHNICAL COOPERATION

(Istanbul, 9 October 1990)

Your Excellency Mr. President,
Distinguished Ministers,
Honourable Secretary General of the Organization of the Islamic Conference,
Distinguished Delegates,

On the occasion of the Sixth Session of the Standing Committee of COMCEC and the First OIC Ministerial Meeting on Technical Cooperation, I would like to welcome you to Turkey on behalf of my Government and the Turkish people and to wish you success in your work.

First of all, I should like to tell you how pleased I am to be with you for the first time as Alternate Chairman of COMCEC.

The Turkish Government, which has been hosting COMCEC Sessions every year since 1984, considers these meetings extremely beneficial, not only in reinforcing the economic cooperation between Member Countries, but also in creating opportunities to get to know each other better.

As in the past, Turkey will never hesitate to exert utmost efforts to strengthen economic cooperation among Member States. We believe that economic cooperation based on strong foundations will greatly contribute to the development and welfare of our countries and help find solutions to many problems and disagreements.

Indeed, history has shown that efforts at economic cooperation, in which mutual interests and sovereignty rights are respected, play an important role in preventing problems that may possibly arise between countries.

On this occasion, I should like to confirm here that it is my Government's greatest desire that, in keeping with international agreements, a peaceful solution be reached to the Gulf Crisis that has caused so much concern and difficulties to us all.

This year, the COMCEC Session will be held concurrently with the First OIC Ministerial Meeting on Technical Cooperation. Thus cooperation activities in yet another important field of the Action Plan will be covered at ministerial level. Indeed, the indispensable inputs for sustained economic development and the realization of expectations are a skilled labour force and the availability of the necessary technology. Turkey will be glad to share with Member Countries the experience she is gaining and has already accumulated, thanks to the free market economy development model based on externalization implemented for the last 10 years, and will not fail to contribute to the achievement of all the projects adopted at the meeting.

Distinguished Ministers,
Honourable Delegates,

A review of world economy at the end of the eighties indicates a relatively positive trend in development. The international debt crisis no longer threatens the integrality of the world financial system; although record peaks of unemployment were registered in Europe in the early eighties, this decade has turned into the longest growth period of our century; the capital market crisis which occurred in October 1987 was overcome without resulting in a depression similar to the 1929 Crash; world trade volume is increasing.

Finally, the eighties came to a close with structural and radical changes taking place in the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe, which constitute the beginning of a new and promising era in world history.

These developments, resulting mainly from the positive economic state Of affairs prevailing during the late eighties in industrialized countries, were not sufficiently reflected in most of the developing countries, including OIC Member States. The decrease of real income, registered especially in many Latin-American and African countries, has caused the welfare level to drop below the 1970 levels.

I believe it would not be wrong to state that the negative situation observed in developing countries was not only the result of external factors such as low price elasticity of the demand for export commodities, negative terms of trade limiting foreign financing opportunities or variable interest rates, but also a result of the prevalent role played by the economic policies implemented.

In fact, countries that did not take the measures required to ensure economic stability and structural adaptation in good time, that maintained over-valued currencies due to an extensive foreign debt, high customs and non-tariff barriers, and moreover kept their money and financial markets under constraint, were faced with increasing economic problems and were impoverished during the eighties.

Assuming that industrialized countries would implement tight monetary policies, that economic growth rates would register a relative slow-down, and that interest rates would maintain their 1988 levels in the nineties, one can expect the continuation of the negative trend in the economies of developing countries exporting raw materials and bearing the burden of extensive debts. On the other hand, developing countries would have to take serious measures in the face of competition stemming from the creation of the Single European Market and the restructuring of East European Countries.

Concrete steps taken with a view to strengthening cooperation among Member Countries as well as the work launched by the COMCEC assume increased importance in the face of the rapidly changing world economic conditions.

The early finalization of projects such as the export credit insurance scheme aiming at the expansion of trade among Member Countries, the trade preferential system and trade information network, and results to be obtained from activities initiated in other fields should not only contribute to our development efforts, but would also enable our countries to create the capacities required to obtain an appropriate share of expanding world trade and prospective new markets.

In conclusion, I would like to reiterate my best wishes of success in your work and a pleasant stay in Turkey.

Bismillahi Arrahmani Rahim

Your Excellency Mr. President,

Your Excellency Mr. Prime Minister,

Distinguished delegates,

Excellencies,

Ladies and Gentlemen,

Assalamu Alaikum Wa Rahmutallahi Wa Barakatuh

It is an honour for me to be present at the joint opening of the Sixth Session of the Standing Committee for Economic and Commercial Cooperation and the First OIC Ministerial Meeting on Technical Cooperation.

I should like to begin by expressing deep gratitude to His Excellency President Turgut Özal, the Chairman of the Standing Committee and His Excellency Prime Minister Yıldırım Akbulut, the Alternate Chairman of that Committee, for their personal and keen interest in the promotion of economic and commercial cooperation among Islamic countries. Their abiding commitment to the socio-economic progress of the Islamic States is indeed noteworthy and laudable. The inaugural address by His Excellency Turgut Özal and the Statement by His Excellency Yıldırım Akbulut reflect the commitment of Turkey to the strengthening of economic ties amongst Islamic countries. Economic development and integration are the foundations on which the edifice of a strong and united Ummah must be raised. I am confident that during its deliberations, the Standing Committee and the First OIC Ministerial Meeting on Technical Cooperation will be guided by these two inspiring addresses.
Annex 4 to OIC/COMCEC/6-90/REP.

I should also like to express our thanks to the Government and brotherly people of Turkey for the excellent arrangements made for the holding of these two important conferences concurrently and for the traditional warm and generous hospitality extended to the delegations since their arrival in this beautiful and historic city of Istanbul which has stood for centuries as the proud standard bearer of Islamic tradition, culture and civilization.

Mr. Chairman,

The Sixth Session of the Standing Committee for Economic and Commercial Cooperation takes place against the background of a picture of international economic relations which remains sombre for the developing countries and the Islamic world. The period since the Fifth Session of the Standing Committee held in September 1989 has been characterized by the continuing lack of political will on the part of the developed and industrialized world to provide the necessary impetus to the process of international economic cooperation based on equity and justice. The recovery of global economy currently occurring throughout the world failed to take into account the concerns of OIC Member States in their development process. Indeed the majority of our countries continue to suffer the serious effects of reduced aid flows, increased costs of debt servicing, outflow of capital, rising walls of protectionism on the part of industrialized countries and rising imbalance in the terms of trade.

I believe that in this bleak situation we must concentrate on a wiser utilization of the wealth we possess and implement a strategy for production and for exploiting that wealth as efficiently as possible in order to reduce our dependence on industrialized countries. The gap between the latter and the Islamic world will continue to increase unless we look seriously into the ways and means likely to enable us to face that situation which remains uncertain.

Underlying such a state of uncertainty are the new economic changes occurring throughout the world, such for example as the single European Market of 1992 and its subsequent effects on the economic relations between the European Community and the Islamic States. Hence it is incumbent on us to be prepared to face these new developments and identify their dimensions and effects, and also demonstrate our political and economic will in order to solve together the economic problems that might arise from such developments. I would therefore call on the Member States to intensify their economic and commercial cooperation. I feel dutybound to urge them to promote trade exchange and investments among them and try to remove any impediments likely to check such cooperation.

I should like to add that the Nineteenth Islamic Conference of Foreign Ministers held in Cairo was apprised of the ongoing activities of the Standing Committee under your dynamic leadership in strengthening and expanding cooperation and collaboration among Member States in economic and commercial fields. The Conference noted with great appreciation that at the previous five sessions of the COMCEC, each held concurrently with a Ministerial meeting in priority areas of the Plan of Action, effective action has been initiated to implement various projects pertaining to these areas. The Conference felt the need for the formulation of new strategies within the existing Plan of Action adopted at the Third Islamic Summit in 1981 and recommended to the Sixth Islamic Summit which will be held in Dakar, Republic of Senegal, in 1991, to issue a new mandate for the COMCEC to that effect in view of the overwhelming economic changes recorded since 1981 and their repercussions on the economies of the Islamic States.
I need not emphasize the importance of our present meeting which will discuss and review the progress so far achieved on the relevant decisions and recommendations of the previous five sessions of the COMCEC. The Agenda of the current session of the COMCEC includes a number of important subjects, such as reports related to the Framework Agreement on a Trade Preferential System among Member States, prepared by the Islamic Centre for Development of Trade, Establishment of a Trade Information Network Among the Member States, jointly prepared by IDB and the Casablanca Centre, Establishment of an Export Credit Insurance Scheme, undertaken by IDB. All these subjects are of fundamental importance for the implementation of the Plan of Action. I am confident that the meeting will be able to agree on specific measures to expedite the implementation of the decisions taken earlier within a practical time schedule.

The General Secretariat of the Organization of the Islamic Conference has submitted a comprehensive Background Report for this meeting which contains, among others, a summary of the achievements of the COMCEC in performing the tasks entrusted to it by the Summit Conferences. The activities of the General Secretariat have also been devoted to following up the implementation of the decisions of the Ministerial Conferences on the priority areas of the Plan of Action namely, Trade, Food and Agriculture, Industry, Transport, Communications and Energy.
Mr. Chairman,

I am also pleased to inform you that the Fourth Islamic Fair is currently being held in Tunis and I had the honour to attend its inauguration on the fifth of October. This great event which is organized by the Tunisian Government in collaboration with the Islamic Centre for the Development of Trade is being held in excellent conditions and attended by twenty Member States. This augurs well for its success and must be credited to the OIC's action which is designed to develop intra-Islamic trade exchange.

I also note with satisfaction that the Islamic Fair has now become a tradition as it is being held since the day it was entrusted to the ICDT regularly every two years. Thus, after Istanbul, Casablanca, Cairo and Tunis, it shall now be held in Khartum. I avail myself of this opportunity to appeal to the Member States to attend in great numbers the Fifth Islamic Trade Fair due to be held in Khartum in 1992 and also urge other Member States to offer to host the Sixth Islamic Trade Fair in 1994.

I am happy to mention that the Government of the Arab Republic of Egypt has graciously offered to host the Eighth Meeting of Governors of Central Banks and Monetary Authorities of Member States in Cairo on March 7, 1991, in conjunction with the Fifteenth Annual Meeting of the Board of Governors of IDB, to discuss the monetary and financial issues of the Member States. The Government of the Republic of Indonesia shall, on its part,

Mr. Chairman,

The First Ministerial Meeting on Technical Cooperation is being held concurrently with the Sixth Session of the COMCEC. The convening of this meeting constitutes a step forward in the efforts to augment cooperation among OIC countries in view of the crucial importance of the technical cooperation sector in the overall development of their economies.

The two meetings have a heavy agenda. The Senior Officials have met for the past, two days, deliberated on the issues before the Conference and evolved concrete recommendations to help us conclude our proceedings in the best conditions. I trust that, inspired by the spirit of Islamic solidarity and with the spirit of brotherhood and understanding which traditionally characterizes such meetings, the Honourable Ministers will take, as in the past, practical measures to accelerate the pace of mutually beneficial cooperation among the Member States.

Mr. Chairman,

I cannot conclude without making a reference to the crisis which has been preoccupying the mind of the OIC, the Islamic Ummah and the world at large, for the past two months. This crisis undoubtedly has been having tremendous effects on the economies of our Member States. We therefore sincerely hope and fervently pray that a speedy and peaceful solution could be found to this crisis.

I can hardly conclude either without mentioning with indignation the slaughter perpetrated only yesterday by the Israeli occupying forces against the Palestinians well inside the precinct of Al Aqsa Mosque. This is a timely reminder of the imperative need to find a just, and lasting solution that would put an end to the plight of the Palestinian people.

The OIC, in condemning this new Israeli criminal act that resulted in tens of martyrs and hundreds of wounded, invites the international community to afford the necessary protection to the Palestinian citizens in the occupied territories and to take serious action so as to enable the Palestinian people to achieve their goal which is freedom and independence.

Mr. Chairman,

In conclusion, I would once again like to thank you for giving me this opportunity to address this august gathering and wish our two meetings a resounding success in their deliberations.
Annex 4 to OIC/COMCEC/6-90/REP.

I pray to the Almighty that He may guide our steps and bless our efforts to serve the Islamic Ummah. Ameen.

Wassalamu Al'fiikum Wa Rahniatullahi Wa Barakatuh.

Islamic Chamber of Commerce, Industry and Commodity Exchange (ICCICE).

4. The Meeting was chaired by Mr. Saeed Khalid of Pakistan and the representative of the Ankara Centre served as Rapporteur.

5. Mr. Agha Ghouse, representative of the ICCICE, reported that the Chamber had been continuing with their work in the area of joint ventures, originally assigned to them by the QIC Ministerial Consultation on Industrial Cooperation in its first session in close cooperation with the IDB. In this context, they have already identified a number of such projects in the Islamic World. The Chamber also organised, in cooperation with UNIDO and UCCET, an investment promotion meeting and a project assessment meeting whereby various projects in the less developed OIC countries were brought to the attention of the potentially interested parties in the more developed Islamic Countries.

He stressed that one main bottleneck in the realisation of joint ventures in the Islamic World was the speedy preparation related to feasibility studies for such projects, where the more developed OIC countries could help with their expertise and facilities.

Mr. Ghouse informed the Meeting that the Chamber had been collaborating and coordinating closely with the other OIC centres and institutions in the area of industrial, financial and commercial cooperation and they stand ready and willing to continue to do so even more, so that the available facilities and capacities in the Islamic World would be employed to a larger extent.

Finally, the representative of the Chamber informed the meeting that the headquarters building of the ICCICE in Karachi had been completed through the support of many OIC Countries and that the inauguration ceremony would be held in early January 1991.

6. The activity report of the SESRTCIC was presented by the Director General Dr. Sadi CİNDORUK, who emphasized that the greatest problem was in the area of finance. He said that the Centre has been doing its best to carry out its work programmes and fulfill the additional tasks given to it by the various OIC fora; meanwhile the number of Member States that regularly pay their mandatory contributions to the Centre dropped below 10 during the last few years. He pointed out that the Centre has managed to keep operating by cutting back expenditures to minimal levels, dismissing staff, withholding salaries and curtailing important programmes, and by borrowing from funds allocated for staff entitlements. The Director General warned that the debts of the Centre thus accumulated have reached $950,000 and that is was not possible to undertake further borrowing since all the internal funds were depleted. He urged the Standing Committee to formulate the necessary recommendations to solve this problem immediately to prevent the actual closure of the Centre in the very near future.
Regarding the activities and programmes of the Centre, Dr. CİNDORUK reported that the Centre was making a big effort to carry on with the work assigned to it. He said that, in addition to the regular information research and training activities, the Centre will put out the new edition of the Statistical Yearbook, prepare a paper on the African debt and an OIC statistical pocketbook for the forthcoming Islamic Summit Conference. He added that the Centre was in the process of establishing a Technical Cooperation Information System and that they viewed the Focal Points and Ministerial Meetings on Technical Cooperation as activities which would open up new and fruitful avenues for OIC Cooperation where the Centre would be best placed to contribute.

7. Dr. A.M. PATWARI, the Director General of ICTVTR, started his report by pointing out that the activities of his Centre had gained a momentum upon the completion of the Centre's facilities in terms of short courses and degree programmes in trade, technical education and technology. He said that the main emphasis was on human resource development, particularly in technical and engineering subjects. He reported to the Committee that, as was the case with all the other OIC institutions, although the demand for their activities and programmes were substantive, the arrears in unpaid mandatory contributions have accumulated to unmanageable levels. He informed the Committee that in addition to the diverse set of students they already have under instruction in Dhaka, they were asked to admit. Muslim students from non-OIC countries. He felt that the IDB might help the Centre in securing the nomination of such students, as the Bank is more familiar with those countries through its own operations. He informed the Committee that H.E. Hussain Mohammad Ershad, the President of Bangladesh, was personally present at the convocation ceremony of the Fourth Academic year and awarding of certificates. He concluded by saying that, the financial problem of the OIC institutions should be taken up at the highest levels within the OIC for their speedy solution.

8. Mr. Muhammed GUEDIRA, the Director General of ICDT, started his report by saying that although new assignments to his Centre and the other OIC Centres are being given continuously, very few Member States have been coming forth with their annual mandatory contributions the budgets of these institutions created by the OIC itself.

Mr. GUEDIRA said that ICDT was doing extensive work in the areas of trade information, market studies, trade promotion and training programmes. In addition to their extensive annual report on intra-Islamic Trade, they have been assigned responsibilities by the COMCEC such as the studies related to the establishment within the OIC framework of a Trade Information Network and a Trade Preferential System, on which they had done a lot of work and have been reporting regularly to the COMCEC. Their periodical and occasional publications address themselves to the collection, enhancement and dissemination of trade information within the OIC.
Community. Mr. GUEDIRA reported that, in the area of trade promotion, they have been organizing Islamic trade fairs, the fourth of which was currently in progress in Tunis, where direct contacts among the prospective trading parties and first hand information on potentials and availabilities were exhibited directly. He added that the fourth major area of activity for the Centre has been training and participation in the relevant OIC meetings. In this context, he mentioned that they have organised training programmes for commercial attaches and meetings of national trade promotion organisations of the Member States in their effort to bring together all the elements that were implemented in the enhancement and promotion of Intra-Islamic trade.

9. Dr. Arafat TAMIMI, the Director General of IFSTAD, commenced his report by pointing out that his institution has been implementing activities not only within the framework of their own 5-year Plan but also in relation to the COMSTECH Plan of Action. In the latter context, six Science and Technology Networks were established in cooperation with the host countries on various subjects, in addition to the establishment of the Islamic Academy of Sciences and the Islamic Federation of Research Institutes.

Dr. TAMIMI reported that within their own Action Plan there were programmes in science and technology, politics, information, manpower development, cooperation and coordination and technology transfer. In this framework, he said that IFSTAD has organised conferences and seminars, published directories, study series and proceedings, participating in the ICINET, providing grants and fellowships to 104 Muslim students in the field of science and technology, coordinating and cooperating actively with the relevant OIC and UN institutions in addition to the individual Member States for initiating various activities. He said that they were also actively engaged in projects that address themselves to subjects such as science and technology awareness, solar energy, technology transfer and the like. He concluded with an appeal to identify effective measures for the solution of the financial problem, as the accumulated arrears of IFSTAD have reached $15 million against their annual budget at one-tenth of that amount.

10. The Sessional Committee after deliberating on the reports presented during the meeting:

a) Expressed its deep appreciation for the activities of the SESRTCIC, ICDT, ICTVTR, IFSTAD and ICCICE in the areas of economic, commercial and technical cooperation between the OIC Member States in conjunction with, and complementary to, the activities of the COMCEC.

b) Noted the valuable contribution made by the Ankara Centre in organizing the First Meeting of the Focal Points on Technical Cooperation leading to the First OIC Ministerial Meeting on Technical Cooperation.
c) Welcomed the plans of the ICDT to prepare studies on the setting up of the Islamic Common Market and the Effects of the Single European Market on the OIC Member States.

d) Took note of the further aggravation of the financial crisis of the OIC subsidiary organs arising from the non-payment of the mandatory contributions and arrears on the part of the Member States. The cash flow problems of the ICTVTR and SESRTCIC have become so serious as to asphyxiate them financially, threatening their closure in the near future.

c) Expressed the view that while the subsidiary organs could resort to raising funds through charging fees for their services, etc, such measures would not help in overcoming the serious deficits being faced due to non-payment of mandatory contributions by the Member States.

t) In view of the urgency of the need to ease the financial situation being faced by the OIC subsidiary organs, requested the Sixth Session of the COMCEC to appeal to the Heads of Delegation of the Member States to intervene at the appropriate level in their respective governments with a view to paying immediately their mandatory contributions to the SESRTCIC, ICDT, ICTVTR and IFSTAD. Without the immediate payment of the current year's contributions and serious efforts to clear the arrears, some of these centres face a crippling effect on their activities and would even be threatened with closure.

MINDFUL of the persistence of the Lebanese crisis which has been lasting for over fifteen years now and which has brought with it a heavy strain on the Government, people and institutions of Lebanon beyond their capacity to bear and led in turn to the destruction of Lebanese economic infrastructure and management, to which could also be added the recent regional developments that magnified Lebanon's tragedy and caused damages to her economy estimated to amount to about one billion US dollars.

Bismillahir Rahmanir Rahim

Mr. President, Chairman of the COMCEC,
Mr. Prime Minister, Alternate Chairman,
Honourable Ministers,
Excellencies,
Distinguished Delegates,
Ladies and Gentlemen,

Assalamu Alaikum Wa Rahmatullah Wa Barakatuhu.

It is again a great honour and privilege for me to address the Joint Closing Ceremony of the Sixth Session of the Standing Committee for Economic and Commercial Cooperation and the First OIC Ministerial Conference on Technical Cooperation.

At the very outset, I would like to express my profound gratitude and thanks to His Excellency President Turgut Özal, Chairman of the COMCEC, for his inspiring inaugural address which contained a comprehensive analysis of the positive results achieved so far in the implementation of the OIC Plan of Action to Strengthen Economic Cooperation Among Member States since the formation of this august body. His wise counsel on the future activities and orientations of this forum will guide us, Inshallah, in the performance of our tasks in the vital fields of our economic and commercial cooperation.

In the same vein, His Excellency Prime Minister Yıldırım Akbulut's remarks outlined the state of rapid economic and political development that is currently taking place in the world today, particularly within developed countries and the present iniquitous economic situation prevailing in the Islamic World.

Mr. Chairman,

We have deliberated fully in a spirit of Islamic solidarity and understanding throughout the last three days, sparing no effort to solve the issues confronting the Islamic Ummah. The Sessions reflected clearly the consensus on the genuine determination of all those present to evolve practical and feasible measures in such processes of joint action in all areas of economic and commercial activities. The conclusions indicate further the progress we have achieved in reaching formulae for resolving key issues of the Agenda, as clearly revealed by our adoption of some important projects such as the Framework Agreement on Trade Preferential System among OIC Member States and the Harmonisation of Standards.
Mr. Chairman,

I am also happy to note that this Session of the COMCEC was concurrently held with the First OIC Ministerial Meeting on Technical Cooperation. The Report and Resolutions of this Meeting have clearly set the tone of practical measures which can be pursued in this important sector of our economic activity. I am confident that the cooperation measures in this field, which have been considered by the Honourable Ministers, will produce far-reaching results in our overall economic collaboration.

The decision that we have adopted on taking up Infrastructure and Public Works at Ministerial level concurrently with the Seventh Session of the COMCEC next year is extremely appropriate, since cooperation in this particular area will bring an added impetus to our overall economic development.

Mr. Chairman,

I would like to assure you, on behalf of the General Secretariat of the OIC and on my own behalf, of our fullest cooperation in the implementation of the recommendations adopted at this Session of the COMCEC as well as at the First Ministerial Meeting on Technical Cooperation.

May I also express our profound appreciation and gratitude to H.E. President Turgut Özal and H.E. Prime Minister Yıldırım Akbulut for the great personal care and attention they have devoted to the overall work of this Standing Committee which has, under their supervision and leadership, become the guiding force for the commercial and economic activity of our cherished Organisation. I would further like to take this opportunity to thank them for the generous hospitality and warm friendship which have been showered on us whenever we visited in this beautiful and historic city of Istanbul.

I would also like to express our utmost appreciation and thanks to the Honourable Ministers and all the distinguished delegates and observers from International Organisations for their valuable contribution to the success of these meetings. Needless to mention, our grateful thanks go as well to the COMCEC Coordination Office, interpreters, translators and all other staff who have worked assiduously behind the scene for the success of this Conference.

In conclusion, I would once again like to thank you, Mr. Chairman, for giving me the opportunity to address this Closing Session. May Allah, the Almighty, bless us all, Amen.

Wassalamu Alaikum Wa Rahmatullah Wa Barakatuhu.

AT THE JOINT CLOSING CEREMONY

ON TECHNICAL COOPERATION

(Istanbul, 10 October 1990)

H.E. The President,
Excellencies,
H.E. The Secretary General of the Organization of the Islamic Conference,
Distinguished Delegates,

At the end of the four-day deliberations of the Sixth Session of the COMCEC and the First Ministerial Meeting on Technical Cooperation, I would like to express my thanks and appreciation to the heads and members of delegations of Member Countries, to H.E. Hamid El-Gabid, Secretary General of the Organization of the Islamic Conference and his colleagues, for their sincere efforts to ensure the success of the meetings, to the Islamic Development Bank, to the Casablanca Centre and other affiliated bodies for their unwavering endeavours and diligence in carrying out their tasks.
Annex 10 to OIC/COMCEC/6-9Q/REP.

At this point, I would like to reiterate my profound sorrow over the distressing massacre that took place two days ago at the Al-Aqsa mosque in Jerusalem, and extend condolences to the people of Palestine on behalf of my government and on my own. We sincerely wish that an end be put to such massacres to which the brotherly Palestinian people are being subjected, as we hope for the restitution of their most legitimate rights.

Your Excellencies,
Distinguished Delegates,

The developments and trends observed on the scene of world economics and politics increase the importance of regional cooperation and, at the same time, daily confirm the necessity of enhancing solidarity within the Islamic Community. Economic and commercial cooperation constitutes the first and foremost basis for solidarity among our countries.

Under present conditions where solidarity and cooperation are of vital importance to international relations rather than self-sufficiency, economic cooperation not only increases the welfare of countries, but also serves regional and world peace. In this respect, I would like to underline the special importance our Government attaches to COMCEC activities and reaffirm that we shall continue to provide all possible support.

Our Ministers responsible for Technical Cooperation have convened concurrently with the Sixth Session of the COMCEC for the first time and laid the foundations for cooperation activities among our countries in another important field of priority. I would like to express my satisfaction as regards the expansion of COMCEC activities through technical cooperation and hope this effort will lead to concrete projects in the near future.

During the six sessions held since its establishment, COMCEC has initiated cooperation in the seven fields indicated in the Economic Cooperation Action Plan, and has added impetus and order to existing activities. Your decision to focus on Infrastructure and Public Works at the session to be held in 1991 is very appropriate, since Infrastructure and Public Works Services would also speed up the activities related to previously determined fields of cooperation, as well as facilitate cooperation in the realization of projects undertaken to further develop our countries.

I am convinced that, with the conclusion of the deliberations of the General Secretariat on the content and procedures of COMCEC activities, the Standing Committee shall be in a position to carry out its activities more efficiently.

Your Excellencies,
Distinguished Delegates,

I would like, once again, to extend my thanks to all participating delegations for their constructive efforts and valuable contribution. On behalf of my Government and the Turkish people, I would like to convey our best wishes to the brotherly governments and people you represent. Hoping that you will be returning to your countries with pleasant memories of Turkey, I extend my best wishes.

Honourable Delegates,
Distinguished Guests,

We have now come to the end of the Sixth Session of the COMCEC and the First Ministerial Meeting on Technical Cooperation among Member Countries of the Organization of the Islamic Conference. During the four-day deliberations of the Ministers and Senior Officials, productive discussions were held and wise decisions were adopted for the benefit of all Member States.

I would like to extend my thanks to the distinguished delegates, the Secretariat of the Organization of the Islamic Conference and the various affiliated bodies for their valuable contributions to the success of the meetings, as well as to the technical and administrative staff, interpreters and translators who have worked for the organization of the meetings.
Distinguished Delegates,

With the first Ministerial Meeting on Technical Cooperation held concurrently with the Sixth Session of the COMCEC, foundations have been laid for cooperation in one other field of vital importance today for the development and welfare of our countries.

Parallel to the rapidly changing world conditions, the COMCEC will undoubtedly enlarge its scope to include other fields as well. At the same time, it is of great importance to exert utmost efforts in order to realize those concrete projects that are on the agenda and for which basic strategies have been defined. Moreover, as I mentioned in my inaugural speech, we must give priority to reducing the difference between our rich and poor Member Countries and also between developed or developing ones.

Our success so far should not blind us to the absolute necessity of raising the level of our cooperation and commercial relations to serve the interest of Member Countries through more effective and constructive work.

As I mentioned in my opening speech, we now live in a more inter-dependent world. I had mentioned that in the framework of developing and evolving state of affairs, some countries have endeavoured to obtain more benefits from their inter-dependence through various arrangements, and I have given examples of regional agreements.

Moreover, the world is going through a period fraught with unparalleled changes. We should be able to muster strength to put the new challenges generated by this situation in the service of our interests. The progress achieved so far in the field of cooperation indicates that we have established the necessary foundations.

The developments in the Eastern Block today have shown that the road to success in the world today lies in the ability to play the game according to the rules of free market economy. In this respect, both our natural resources and our trained manpower constitute a significant advantage for us. On the other hand, we have a great deal of experience gained in free market economy that we can share. As members of the Islamic countries, I believe it is of the utmost importance to take the steps required to implement free trade among our own countries at the earliest, in a world becoming increasingly competitive.

I am convinced that we can achieve a more balanced development and level of income by combining in the best possible way the manpower, technology, and capital we individually possess and I believe we need to concentrate our efforts in this direction.
As you know, from the very first, the agenda of COMCEC has been mostly dominated by commercial cooperation matters. The follow-up and coordination of other activities, started under the umbrella of the COMCEC, is being taken up in accordance with the methods and strategies defined. I deem it necessary to have the COMCEC actively continue its task of follow-up and coordination, both for the implementation as early as possible of those projects that would contribute to the economic development of Member Countries and for the success of our future efforts.

Distinguished Delegates,

Since its establishment six years ago, thanks to your invaluable support and contribution the COMCEC has come to be accepted as a body where issues related to economic cooperation among Islamic countries are taken up and where senior officials meet and exchange views.

I believe that with your valuable contribution, the COMCEC will continue to serve as successfully in its future endeavours.

Before concluding, convinced as I am that I shall be speaking not only for the Turkish people but also for all the peoples of the Member Countries represented here, I would like to touch upon the ruthless attack which our Palestinian brothers suffered two days ago.
We strongly condemn this act of violence which disregards all human feelings and are deeply revolted at this highly distressing event which caused the death of more than 20 Palestinians and in which hundreds of persons were wounded by the Israeli Security Forces' fire on 8 October in Al Qods Al Sharif.

It is not possible to remain silent in the face of this kind of action directed against people who have no other objective than obtaining their legitimate rights on their territories under occupation. The ruthless acts of Israel are once again displayed before world public opinion and make it imperative for the United Nations, champions of love, respect and universal peace, to take immediate action for the protection of all the inalienable rights of the Palestinians.

I would finally like to thank each and every one of you once again for your contribution to the success of the COMCEC Sessions since the very beginning, and to the development of economic cooperation among Member Countries. I would also ask you to kindly convey to our brothers, the Heads of State of your respective countries, the best wishes of the Turkish people and myself. I wish you each a pleasant journey home.

Turgut ÖZAL
President of the Republic of Turkey
