The List of Participants, the Agenda of the Seventh Session of the COMCEC, the Report of the Senior Officials' Meeting, Resolutions of the Seventh Session and main Statements made at the opening and closing sessions are attached as annexes to the report.

INAUGURAL ADDRESS BY
H.E. TURGUT ÖZAL, PRESIDENT OF THE REPUBLIC OF TURKEY
AND CHAIRMAN OF THE COMCEC
AT THE SEVENTH SESSION OF THE COMCEC
AND THE FIRST MINISTERIAL MEETING ON INFRASTRUCTURE AND PUBLIC WORKS

(Istanbul, 8 October 1991)

Distinguished Delegates,
Distinguished Secretary General,
Honourable Guests,

It is a pleasure for me to welcome you in Turkey and inaugurate the Seventh Session of the COMCEC as well as the First Ministerial Meeting on Infrastructure and Public Works.

The Islamic Conference of Foreign Ministers was also held a short time ago in Istanbul. Important decisions were taken and preparations made for the Islamic Summit Conference, to be held in December. I am convinced that this meeting will likewise produce fruitful results.

The success of our activities within the framework of the Islamic Conference assume more weight than ever before, as great changes are taking place in the world today. We have now to assess the work that we have hitherto completed and determine what new steps to take in the light of the latest developments.

Distinguished Guests,

Some of the above-mentioned changes have a direct impact on the members of the Organization of the Islamic Conference. We are indeed meeting in the aftermath of the Gulf Crisis, which resulted in tragic events, caused great human and material losses and endless sufferings. Although the invasion of one member country by another is a thing of the the past, the situation in the region is still uncertain. It will be necessary to compensate moral and material damage and heal the wounds incurred. We have to undertake important tasks and the COMCEC will be in a position to play a major role in the development of economic cooperation among member countries and in the region.

On the other hand, there are signs which augur hope for the success of the peace process in the Middle East. Were these hopes to be fulfilled, new horizons will undoubtedly open for cooperation in this region.

This Organization is likewise closely concerned by the various national and religious awakenings following the changes prompted by the alleviation of the heavy pressures of communism in Europe, in the Balkans, in the Caucasus and in Central Asia. Consequently, opportunities will also arise for our organization to explore new fields of cooperation in these regions.

Distinguished Delegates,

As I pointed out during the Conference of the Ministers of Foreign Affairs, the only lesson we can draw from the changes that are taking place around us is that economic cooperation is the best and most efficient way to peace and stability. This has further been proved by the steps taken by Western European countries to seek closer relations through economic integration. That is why I have always attached great importance to economy and trade and reiterated that they must be based on reciprocal interests. These considerations were also taken into account when Turkey assumed a leading role in the establishment of the COMCEC.

Distinguished Delegates,

As we inaugurate this Seventh Session of the COMCEC, it is gratifying to note that some of the projects aimed at the promotion of commercial cooperation among Islamic countries, that appeared on the agenda of the COMCEC at its First Session held in November 1984, have already been carried out, others are nearing the stage of completion and some projects are in the process of implementation. Indeed, this concrete development in cooperation has been achieved among forty five sister Islamic countries, geographically located in a vast area of the world, with different economic structures and development levels. This development has occurred in a relatively short period as compared to similar efforts at international cooperation.

In addition to projects aimed at the promotion of commercial cooperation, included in the COMCEC agenda, other useful cooperation projects have been initiated in various fields of the Plan of Action for Economic Cooperation through ministerial meetings, convened concurrently with the annual COMCEC Sessions. The activities carried out since 1984 in the priority areas of the Plan of Action, defined by the Fourth Islamic Summit Conference, have now covered all these fields.

This meeting will address a field of action which, though not included in the existing Plan of Action, is of utmost importance for the development of our countries as well as for the promotion of economic cooperation within our community; namely, the field of infrastructure and public works, which will be dealt with at the ministerial level.

Distinguished Delegates,
Honourable Guests,

Given the swift political and economic changes that today's world is undergoing, concrete cooperation mechanisms established among our countries will play a major role in securing peace and stability and raise the standard of living in our community. The Longer Term Trade Financing Scheme, set up by virtue of a decision of the COMCEC, or the Trade Preferential System and the Export Credit Insurance Scheme, which are being finalized, are concrete examples of such mechanisms. On the other hand, common transportation, power supply and telecommunications projects, as well as some regional infrastructure projects, are likewise major fields of cooperation which we should take up.

I would like to avail myself of this opportunity to once more emphasize the importance of our present endeavours to adapt to current world conditions the Economic Cooperation Plan of Action, adopted at the 1981 Taif Summit, on the basis of which the COMCEC activities have hitherto been carried out. The radical and structural changes taking place on the world political and economic scene since 1981 have given rise to new priorities in the economic cooperation among our countries that call for changes in the cooperation strategy.

The world is indeed changing at a very rapid pace. The role of the State, as central authority, will gradually diminish during the 21st Century. Individuals and individual rights will take their place at the forefront. Large industrial complexes are expected to be replaced by small units, even by units operated by robots. The emphasis is no longer on production itself, but on high quality production and marketing of the produced goods. In the same context, the bulk of economic activities and employment will shift to services. This being the case, the task of the State is to leave the commercial and economic activities to the able hands of individuals and provide, or facilitate, the provision of the infrastructure needed to make their work easier.

Priority in this regard is that of the transport infrastructure which is of vital importance to shorten distances within the country and connect markets with one another. Construction of highways, air and sea ports, and modernization and increasing the capacity of those existing, are of great importance. It is only through such facilities that domestic and international commercial exchange can be activated and can generate a vast economic activity without the need for any state intervention in the market. Another issue is to establish a modern telecommunications network and update the transfer of information, sound and images, to enable a swift exchange of information and thoughts regardless of distances. As a matter of fact, was it not the ability to communicate, thanks to technology, that was instrumental in the collapse of communism? It is such technological means that brought forth the individual abilities of people and facilitated their translation into concrete contribution to national economies.

At the threshold of the 21st century, these developments also call our attention to the need to train generations that possess more information and that integrate that information with their own abilities.

I am of the opinion that the trend to eliminate economic borders between countries will grow even stronger in the near future. As a matter of fact, one of the highest benefits provided by the free market economy to countries is that of lifting the limitations on imports, allowing local entrepreneurs to acquaint themselves with new products, endeavouring to improve the quality of goods to a level that will enable them to compete with imported products, and being receptive to innovations so as to fully utilize their own potential. It is generally accepted nowadays that over-protectionism leads to economic regression, as the world is gradually becoming a single market of which every country is preparing to get a larger share.

I am convinced that a mandate will be received from the Dakar Summit to revise, on the basis of the latest world developments, the Economic Cooperation Plan of Action, which has always been the basis for the work of the COMCEC, and that the technical work to be initiated will carefully assess the above changes so that our cooperation will be based on realistic and rational foundations. In this context, it will be important to make an assessment of human resources. It will also be useful to examine what can be done in the field of education in the framework of the COMCEC.

Distinguished Delegates,
Esteemed Guests,

It is with great pleasure that I note, on the occasion of the Seventh Session of the COMCEC, that two more of the projects that were on our agenda have reached the implementation stage. I hope that the Trade Preferential System Framework Agreement, which is now open to signature and ratification by member countries, will shortly become operational, and that the Export Credit Insurance and Investment Guarantee Mechanism, which is to be submitted for final approval at this Session, will start operating in the shortest possible time through the valuable efforts of the Islamic Development Bank.

I will personally present the usual progress report on the activities carried out under the umbrella of the COMCEC at the Sixth Summit Conference to be held next December in Dakar, and I will also request a mandate to initiate work on issues aimed at further strengthening economic cooperation among our countries. I am convinced that we shall take all the measures needed to ensure the most propitious conditions in this respect.

I am also convinced that, at this Session, we shall work out a formula that will satisfy all member countries regarding the election of the Members of the COMCEC Bureau and the composition of the Follow-up Committee, and that we shall find a lasting solution to this issue before the Dakar Summit.

In conclusion, I wish you success in your work and a pleasant stay in Istanbul.

STATEMENT BY H.E. MESUT YILMAZ,
PRIME MINISTER OF THE REPUBLIC OF TURKEY
AND ALTERNATE CHAIRMAN OF THE COMCEC
AT THE JOINT OPENING CEREMONY
OF THE SEVENTH SESSION OF THE COMCEC
AND THE FIRST OIC MINISTERIAL MEETING
ON INFRASTRUCTURE AND PUBLIC WORKS

(Istanbul, 8 October 1991)

Mr. President,
Distinguished Ministers,
H.E. the Secretary General of the OIC,
Honourable Delegates,

On the occasion of the Seventh Session of the COMCEC and the First Ministerial Meeting on Infrastructure and Public Works, I would like to welcome you all on behalf of my government as well as of the people of Turkey., and extend my sincere wishes for your success.

I wish to express my pleasure for participating, this time as the Alternate Chairman of the COMCEC, in yet another activity of the Organization of the Islamic Conference, whose work I had the opportunity of closely following up during my tenure as Minister of Foreign Affairs.

The government of Turkey, who has been hosting every COMCEC Session since 1984, values these meetings not only as venues to strengthen economic cooperation among member countries, but also as most beneficial activities that provide our countries with ample room for gaining better knowledge of each other.

Our government believes that economic cooperation efforts, the observance of the principle of the reciprocity of benefits and respect for the rights of sovereignty will greatly contribute to the advancement and well being of our countries. Upholding this conviction, Turkey will continue to mobilize all its available potentials with a view to strengthening economic cooperation among our countries.

The COMCEC Session is being held this year concurrently with the Ministerial Meeting on Infrastructure and Public Works, thereby enabling us to promote cooperation in yet another field which is of great importance to development in our countries. I am convinced that the cooperation projects to be initiated as a result of that meeting will unleash the potentials of our community, minimize the technological dependence on industrial countries, and reduce the large transfer of resources to those countries. Turkey will be happy to share with sister Islamic Countries its experiences in the areas of infrastructure and foreign contracting jobs that it has gained as a result of the implementation of economic liberalisation policies during the last decade.

Distinguished Ministers,
Honourable Delegates,

In today's world, where openness and competition have become increasingly predominant, raising the level of income and promoting the well-being of developing countries are now hinging on the pursuance of adequate policies oriented towards maximizing the positive impact of globalization. On the other hand, becoming more exposed to the influence of the outside world does indeed involve certain risks for these countries. Such risks stem mainly from high interest rates, financial squeezes at international finance institutions in industrialized countries, the deterioration of the terms of trade, and a stalemate in world trade negotiations. However, the globalization of capital, manpower and the flow of goods and services also bring about a marked growth of competition and economic efficiency, which in effect facilitate the use of modern technologies aimed at raising the standard of living.

Unless a chain of unexpected negative events unfolds on the world scene, the per capita income in the industrial countries is expected to increase by 2,5% annually in the nineties. On the other hand, should the world trade volume show a 5% annual increase, it would be possible for developing countries to realise an annual growth of 3% in their per capita income. These increase rates will no doubt reflect certain variations between one country and another and should therefore be assessed with caution, especially by countries which are beset by population increase, foreign debt and structural economic problems.

The achievement of this modest development in the nineties will depend on the maintenance of peace and stability in the world, as well as on the policies to be pursued by the developing countries, as I have previously stated.

In order to ensure sustained development and well-being, industrialized countries should reduce the protectionist measures they adopt in foreign trade, make the necessary efforts in the trade negotiation rounds which started in Uruguay to abolish the tariff and non-tariff barriers applied to exports of developing countries, and adopt policies which will safeguard the stability of their own economic growth and financial structure.

The impact of the economic and financial policies adopted by industrialized countries on the world economy as a whole cannot be denied. Nor should we overlook the fact that sustained progress in developing countries will depend largely on the policies adopted by these countries themselves. Accordingly, it becomes increasingly essential for developing countries to invest in human resources and attach importance to the issues of health and population control, adopt measures to promote private enterprise, and implement macroeconomic policies to open their countries to foreign trade and investments.

It is therefore evident that cooperation among us and the work carried out under the COMCEC umbrella will greatly contribute to development processes in the member countries. I am convinced that the realisation of the projects appearing the COMCEC agenda will promote developmental efforts and help create such capabilities that enable us to get our due share in the growing world trade as well as to have access to the new markets already being formed.

In this spirit, I wish you a pleasant stay in Turkey as well as success in your work.

STATEMENT BY H.E. DR. HAMID AL-GABID,
SECRETARY GENERAL OF THE ORGANIZATION OF THE ISLAMIC CONFERENCE
AT THE JOINT OPENING CEREMONY
OF THE SEVENTH SESSION OF THE COMCEC
AND THE FIRST OIC MINISTERIAL MEETING
ON INFRASTRUCTURE AND PUBLIC WORKS

(Istanbul, 8 October 1991)

Bismillahir Rahman Ar-rahim

Mr. President,
Excellency Mr. Prime Minister,
Honourable Ministers,
Excellencies,
Ladies and Gentlemen,

Assalamu Aleykum Wa Rahmatullahi Wa Barakatuh

It is always with renewed pleasure that I take part in the proceedings of the Standing Committee for Economic and Commercial Cooperation (COMCEC). I am all the more happy as this Seventh Session of COMCEC is meeting concurrently with the First Ministerial Conference on Infrastructure and Public Works of Islamic countries, being held only weeks before the Sixth Islamic Summit of Dakar, Republic of Senegal, next December. This Summit will no doubt be able to review the commendable work done by your Committee under the wise leadership of its Chairman, H.E. President Turgut ÖZAL.

First of all, I would like to express my profound gratitude to His Excellency Turgut ÖZAL, President of the Republic of Turkey and His Excellency Mesut YILMAZ, Prime Minister and COMCEC alternate Chairman for the great interest they personally take in promoting economic and commercial cooperation among Islamic countries. The sincere and quite enlightening speech of His Excellency Turgut ÖZAL and the statement of His Excellency Mesut YILMAZ clearly reflect the firm commitment of Turkey and its leaders to the strengthening of links of Islamic fraternity and solidarity among Member States, a condition sine qua non for their fruitful economic cooperation. Indeed, economic progress and integration should form the foundation of a strong and unified Ummah. I am confident that the Standing Committee and the Ministerial Meeting on Infrastructure and Public Works will be guided in their deliberations by the wisdom given in these two speeches.

I also wish to congratulate H.E. Mesut YILMAZ on his nomination as Prime Minister.

I wish to express my warm thanks to the government and people of Turkey for the excellent arrangements made for these two important conferences and for the warm and generous hospitality extended to the delegations since their arrival in this important, beautiful and lively capital, Istanbul, which for centuries bore high the torch of Islamic tradition, culture and civilization. The eminent role that Turkey has always played in the Islamic world will be long remembered by the future generations. It is in this context that we shall always remember the important sessions of the Twentieth Islamic Conference of Foreign Ministers held here in Istanbul from 24 to 28 Muharram 1412H (4-8 August 1919) at the kind invitation of Turkey and which achieved remarkable results.

Mr. Chairman,

We are meeting today at a particularly critical moment for the economies of Islamic countries. During 1990/91 the world economy underwent multiple jolts due in particular to the Gulf crisis and its negative effects to the politico-economic changes and to upheavals in Eastern Europe.

Meanwhile, the terms of trade between developed and developing countries continued to deteriorate, thus widening the gap existing between them. Though according to figures released by the International Monetary Fund (IMF) the prices of manufactured goods increased by 9.6 % in 1990, those of raw materials (excluding the price of oil) fell by 8.3 for the same period. Again according to the International Monetary Fund, the prices of these raw materials will further fall by 2.5 % in 1991.

The trade balance of OIC petroleum non-exporting countries fell by 14.9 % in 1990 and is expected to deteriorate further. Our efforts aimed at rapidly developing our countries have been severely hampered by a hostile economic environment marked by a fall in export earnings from raw materials (with the exception of oil), a price increase of imported goods and services, an increasing external debt of our countries and a limited and inadequate flow of external financial resources.

As a result, the external debt of all OIC Member countries increased by 3.2 % in 1990 with a further 9.2 % increase expected in 1991.

In short, after recording some progress in their economies in 1990, most of the OIC Member countries should expect to experience a period of stagnation, not to say regression, in 1991.

The efforts our countries are deploying to improve the situation could be made much easier if the inflow of external resources proved steady and reliable, which implies increased prices of primary commodities, increased resource transfer to OIC Member countries, reduced debt burden and elimination of protectionism.

Excellency Mr. Chairman,
Honourable delegates,

We can legitimately draw satisfaction from the fact that, despite a most unfavorable international economic environment and difficulties we are still faced with, the activities of the Organisation of the Islamic Conference continue to develop in all sectors including the economic and commercial one, in particular since the Third Islamic Summit held at Makkah Al-Mukarramah/Taif in 1981, adopted the Plan of Action for strengthening economic and commercial cooperation. The Standing Committee for Economic and Commercial Cooperation (COMCEC) set up by the Third Islamic Summit plays an ever increasing role under the wise Chairmanship of His Excellency the President of the Republic of Turkey. Its multiple efforts aimed at intensifying cooperation and economic contracts among Member States deserve our admiration. The success achieved by the Committee since its inception is quite impressive, since, in just six years, this body has dealt with six of the priority areas of the Plan of Action as adopted at the Fourth Islamic Summit held in Casablanca. Furthermore, the Committee has prepared and implemented the Longer Term Trade Financing Scheme which has become a very important instrument for active cooperation among Islamic countries. A Trade Preferential System among Member Countries of the Organization of the Islamic Conference has also been prepared and approved and is currently being signed.

In addition, the Standing Committee for Economic and Commercial Cooperation has made giant steps in establishing an Export Credit Insurance and Investment Guarantee Scheme and an Islamic Multilateral Clearing Union. These two schemes which should play an important role in strengthening intra-Islamic cooperation constitute an agenda item of the present Session which will hopefully adopt them and urge their implementation. Other important issues like the Trade Information Network in the Islamic Countries (TINIC), the harmonization of standards in the Islamic States, the organisation of fairs and sectorial meetings in priority domains, should also be considered by participants. These instruments will supplement agreements already prepared by various Islamic institutions and approved by COMCEC and will contribute to strengthening cooperation and developing trade among Islamic countries. There is indeed no denying that the volume and increase in trade among Islamic States give a marked impetus to their cooperation and integration.

However, the absence of complementarity in their economies, the inadequacy of their infrastructures and the persistence of other traditional constraints constitute real hurdles impairing the achievement of satisfactory intra-community exchanges.

In acknowledgment of the positive achievements by COMCEC, the Twentieth Islamic Conference of Foreign Ministers, after being apprised of the activities of the Committee, decided to recommend to the Sixth Islamic Summit to be held in Dakar, Republic of Senegal, in December 1991, to mandate COMCEC to prepare new strategies within the framework of the present Plan of Action by taking into consideration the changes which have taken place in the world since the adoption of this Plan in 1981.

The Conference reviewed the economic situation in the world and expressed serious concern over its impact on the Member States of the Organization of the Islamic Conference. It further urged Member States to intensify their cooperation efforts to minimize the negative effects likely to result from this economic situation and from the prospects of establishing a Single European Market in 1992, attempts to set up economic groupings in North America and Asia, economic upheavals in Eastern Europe including the Soviet Union and, lastly, consequences of German reunification.

The Islamic Development Bank, and the Ankara and Casablanca Centers have been mandated to examine the consequences of 1992 Europe on Member States and propose measures enabling Islamic countries to make the most of this European economic integration while keeping to a minimum the negative impact on their economies.

The Conference also urged Member States to promote trade exchanges and investments among themselves while bringing down any obstacles thereto.

It is comforting to note that the preoccupations of the Twentieth Islamic Conference of Foreign Ministers are properly reflected in the working programme of the Seventh Session of COMCEC.

I feel that Islamic States should adopt dynamic measures to be in a position to further diversify their economies and strengthen their complementarities. It goes without saying that the Organisation of the Islamic Conference and the Islamic Development Bank as well as all other relevant institutions of the OIC System will work closely together for the realization of these priority objectives.

Therefore, we should in prospect of the year 2,000, strive to bring the present level of intra-Islamic trade, now accounting for about 10% of their foreign trade, to a much higher level.

Such an objective is not utopic. It can be achieved. We should achieve it to safeguard the future of our countries, that of the Islamic Ummah and face the numerous challenges before us.

To that end, Mr. Chairman, we have to develop, inter-alia, our infrastructures, our means of transportation and communication which constitute the fundamental bases likely to contribute to achieving a rapid economic integration among our States. I am, therefore, happy to note that COMCEC has always accorded this issue all the attention it deserves and I remain confident that the First Ministerial Conference on Infrastructure and Public Works will undoubtedly contribute to the strengthening of economic and commercial cooperation among our States.

I am also happy to note that COMCEC is still giving priority to agricultural development which, together with infrastructure, is a basic sector in the development of OIC Member States.

In this context, I would like to inform our august assembly that the OIC, in conjunction with the Government of the Republic of Senegal, the Islamic Development Bank and the African Development Bank, will organise a symposium on Food Security and agricultural development within the framework of the Sixth Islamic Summit which will be to the credit of COMCEC and specifically to its President.

I wish to express my gratitude to the Government of Senegal, to IDB and ADB for their effective contributions to this seminar which will take place at a very opportune time and will further promote awareness, among the senior officials of our Organisation, on the importance of food security and agricultural development.

Distinguished Chairman,
Honourable Delegates,

Before I conclude, I would like to invite you to reflect with me on some objectives which, in my view, could help Member States to overcome their present economic difficulties while putting them on the path of a true and lasting development. These objectives consist of:

accelerating the transformation and diversification of their economies;

strengthening complementarities and cooperation among Member Countries so as to free them from the constraints and whims of the world economy while strengthening their negotiating positions as a group in the face of other economic world groupings (European Common Market, North American Common Market, Asian Common Market) and at different international fora (GATT, etc.);

ensuring a sustained development including an increase in Gross National Product (GNP)

Allow me, Mr. Chairman, to wish every success to the Seventh Session of the Standing Committee for Economic and Commercial Cooperation and the First Ministerial Conference on Infrastructure and Public Works. I may assure you that, as usual, the General Secretariat of the Organization of the Islamic Conference will do everything in its power to implement rapidly and efficiently the outcome of your deliberations.

I thank you,

Wassalamu Alaykum Wa Rahmatullahi Wa Barakatuh.

Bismillahi Al-Rahman Al-Rahim

Mr. President, Chairman of the COMCEC
Mr. Prime Minister, Alternate Chairman of the COMCEC
Distinguished Ministers,
Excellencies,
Honourable Delegates,
Ladies and Gentlemen,

Assalamou Alaikum Wa Rahmatullah Wa Barakatou

May I be permitted to express my joy and honour for participating in the Joint Closing Session of the Seventh Session of the Standing Committee for Economic and Commercial Cooperation and the First OIC Ministerial Conference on Infrastructure and Public Works. It is always a rewarding privilege to participate in the COMCEC meetings, convened under the wise and efficient leadership of H.E. President Turgut ÖZAL, President of the Republic of Turkey and Chairman of COMCEC who has spared no effort to turn COMCEC into a forum, abounding in a fruitful exchange of views and orientations for the development of economic and commercial cooperation among OIC Member States.

I wish first to express my profound gratitude and warm thanks to H.E. President Turgut ÖZAL, Chairman of the COMCEC, for his inaugural speech which guided our work and enabled our Meeting to arrive at positive results.

I also wish to thank H.E. Mesut YILMAZ, the Prime Minister of Turkey and Alternate Chairman of COMCEC, for his very useful proposals, conducive to strengthening cooperation between member countries, and for the readiness he expressed on behalf of Turkey to let other Islamic Countries benefit from its material resources and its technical expertise.

Mr. Chairman,

We are happy to note that, as it has always been the case in the past, our deliberations were conducted under excellent conditions and culminated into concrete and positive results, thanks, to the wise directives of H.E. President Turgut ÖZAL, Chairman of the COMCEC. This Meeting represents a new phase towards the implementation of the objectives of COMCEC. As I pointed out at the opening of this Seventh Session of the COMCEC, the success achieved by COMCEC since its establishment, merely six years ago, is noteworthy. Indeed, in a relatively short time, COMCEC has already dealt with the six priority areas of the Plan of Action adopted by the Fourth Islamic Summit Conference held in Casablanca, and it is opportune at this juncture to reiterate, that the COMCEC has adopted programmes and agreements of great importance for the development of economic, commercial, financial and technical cooperation among Member States. In this connection, we refer in particular to the Longer-Term Trade Financing Scheme, the Trade Preferential System among member countries that COMCEC had already adopted, as well as the Export Credit Guarantee Scheme and the Islamic Multilateral Clearing Union that we have just adopted. Other projects, just as important, are under consideration and will be added to the measures already adopted with a view to promoting cooperation among OIC Member States in accordance with the Plan of Action of the Third Islamic Summit of Makkah Al-Mukarramah and the Fourth Islamic Summit of Casablanca.

Mr. Chairman,

I am also happy to note that the Ministerial Meeting on Infrastructure and Public Works which was concurrently held with the Seventh Session of COMCEC led to positive results owing to the excellent preparations made by the Republic of Turkey and the constant attendance of all participants.

The development of infrastructures is undoubtedly a fundamental basis for the development of OIC Member States and it is gratifying to note that the COMCEC grants due importance to it and might include it among the priority areas of concern to our Organisation.

Mr. Chairman,,

In spite of a difficult international environment, we can certainly express satisfaction at the progress achieved in the development of cooperation among OIC Member States. In this context I would like to express my gratitude to the Islamic Development Bank that is endeavouring at best to contribute effectively to the strengthening of economic, trade, financial, technical and technological cooperation among OIC Member States. While we are considering the drawing up of a new plan of action, it would be appropriate to refer to the remarkable efforts exerted by the OIC subsidiary organs such as the Ankara and Casablanca Centres that spare no effort, in spite of the financial difficulties they encounter, to contribute to the implementation of the Plan of Action.

Mr. Chairman,

May I once again be allowed to express my profound gratitude to you and to H.E. Mesut YILMAZ, the Prime Minister, for the considerable care and the sincere interest taken all COMCEC activities. On behalf of the Organisation of the Islamic Conference, I would also like to express our gratitude for the generous hospitality accorded to us every time we visit this beautiful country.

I would also like to express our deepest appreciation and sincere thanks to the honourable Ministers, and to the distinguished delegates and observers from international organisations for their fruitful contribution to the success of these meetings.

I cannot fail to add that we are equally grateful to the COMCEC Coordination Bureau, to the interpreters and translators and to the entire personnel who, behind the scenes, ensured the success of this Conference.

In conclusion, I would like to thank you once more, Mr. President, for giving me the opportunity of taking the floor at this closing session and assure you that the Secretariat of our Organisation will spare no effort in implementing the decisions of the Seventh Session of COMCEC and of the First Ministerial Meeting on Infrastructure and Public Works of OIC Member States.

May God the Almighty bless you all.

Wassalamou Alaikoum We Rahmatoullah Wa Barakatruh.

STATEMENT BY H.E. MESUT YILMAZ
PRIME MINISTER OF THE REPUBLIC OF TURKEY
AND ALTERNATE CHAIRMAN OF COMCEC
AT THE JOINT CLOSING CEREMONY
OF THE SEVENTH SESSION OF THE COMCEC
AND THE FIRST OIC MINISTERIAL MEETING
ON INFRASTRUCTURE AND PUBLIC WORKS

(Istanbul, 9 October 1991)

Mr. President,
Distinguished Ministers,
H.E. the Secretary General of the Organization of the Islamic Conference
Esteemed Delegates,

As we come to the end of the four-day work of the Seventh Session of the COMCEC and the First Ministerial Meeting on Infrastructure and Public Works, I would like to thank the distinguished Ministers and delegates and His Excellency Hamid Al-Gabid, Secretary General of the OIC, for their sincere efforts towards the success of the meetings, as well as the Islamic Development Bank, the Ankara Centre and other subsidiary organs which have carried out, with dedication and diligence, the tasks they have been entrusted with.

Your Excellencies,
Distinguished Delegates,

The rapid and radical changes taking place on the world economic and political scene, increase the importance of the efforts for regional cooperation and emphasize the necessity for developing more efficient cooperation and solidarity within the Islamic world. In the present state of affairs, where reciprocal cooperation and interdependence tend to replace self-sufficiency in international relations, economic cooperation will contribute, not only to the welfare of our countries, but also to the achievement of durable peace and stability in our region as well as in the world. In this spirit, I would like to reiterate that the government of Turkey attaches special importance to the activities of the COMCEC, and will continue, as it did in the past, to extend all possible support to these activities.

Our Ministers of Infrastructure and Public Works met for the first time concurrently with the Seventh Session of the COMCEC, and laid the foundations of cooperation between our countries in that field. I wish to express my pleasure in seeing the COMCEC field of activities extend to Infrastructure and Public Works, and hope that the work to be initiated will soon be translated into concrete projects which will yield results at an early time.

During this meeting, which is held prior to the Sixth Islamic Summit Conference in Dakar, we have also approved the implementation of the third project on the agenda. After the Longer Term Trade Financing Scheme, put in operation as of 1987, and the Trade Preferential System Framework Agreement opened to the signature and ratification of the member countries in the beginning of this year, we are now processing the Export Credit Insurance and Investment Guarantee Mechanism for implementation. The results achieved in such a short time by an such a forum formultilateral economic cooperation as the COMCEC, grouping as it does countries spread over a vast geographical area of the world, truly give us hope for the future.

Over the seven sessions it held since its inception in 1984, the COMCEC has launched cooperation activities in many of the fields defined in the Economic Cooperation Plan of Action, and has also provided additional impetus and consistency to those that had been earlier initiated. In this connection, I would like to express satisfaction over the appropriate decision we have reached to the effect of devoting next year's Session to an assessment of the activities carried out so far under the COMCEC umbrella -in the light of the resolutions to be adopted at the Dakar Summit- as well as to the elaboration of new strategies adapted to the changing conditions in the world.

Distinguished Ministers
Esteemed Delegates,

Before I conclude, I would like to once more thank all the delegations participating in the meetings for their constructive work and valuable contribution. May I also express, on behalf of my government and the Turkish people, our sincere and best wishes to the brotherly governments and peoples you represent, and hope that you take back home pleasant memories from your stay in Turkey.

CLOSING ADDRESS OF H.E. TURGUT ÖZAL,
PRESIDENT OF THE REPUBLIC OF TURKEY
CHAIRMAN OF COMCEC
OF THE SEVENTH SESSION OF THE COMCEC
AND THE FIRST MINISTERIAL MEETING
ON INFRASTRUCTURE AND PUBLIC WORKS

(Istanbul, 9 October 1991)

Distinguished Ministers,
His Excellency the Secretary General,
Esteemed Delegates,

We have now reached the end of the Seventh Session of the COMCEC and the First Ministerial Meeting on Infrastructure and Public Works. During the four-day work at the level of Senior Officials and Ministers, many fruitful discussions took place, and we have made decisions which, I believe, are beneficial to all member countries.

I would like to express my thanks to the distinguished delegates, to the General-Secretariat of the Organization of the Islamic Conference, to the affiliate institutions and to all technical and administrative personnel who have taken part in the organization of the sessions, as well as to the translators and interpreters, for their valuable efforts and contribution towards the success of the meetings.

With the First Ministerial Meeting on Infrastructure and Public Works, held concurrently with the Seventh Session of the COMCEC, we have launched efforts to develop cooperation in yet another field vitally important for the development of our countries. I hope that with the active participation of the member countries, these efforts will soon lead to the implementation of projects aimed at securing the foundations of peace, stability and welfare in our community.

It is a source of special pleasure for me to see that final ratification has been obtained during these meetings for one more of the projects appearing on the COMCEC agenda. Based on this ratification, I hope that the Export Credit Insurance and Investment Guarantee System will be at the service of our coun* -ies as soon as the necessary work is completed by the Islamic Development Bank. I would like to take this opportunity to thank the Distinguished President and experts of the Islamic Development Bank, who have executed the technical work related to this project with great diligence,

I would also like to reiterate my belief that the work started thanks to the dedicated efforts of the Ankara Centre will greatly facilitate our access to a mandate, from the upcoming Islamic Summit Meeting, to update the existing Economic Cooperation Plan of Action, which has hitherto served as the basis for COMCEC activities.

During this meeting, another issue solved to the satisfaction of all member states was that of the election of the members of the Bureau of the COMCEC and the composition of the Follow-up Committee. I would like to congratulate the countries that have been elected to serve on the Bureau of the COMCEC and Follow-up Committee in accordance with the new formula, and wish them success in their work.

Distinguished Delegates',

During the seven years since its establishment, thanks to your valuable support and contribution, the COMCEC has been accepted as an august body where economic cooperation is strengthened, and where senior decision-makers meet and exchange views regarding the mutual interests of their countries. In today's world of accelerated change and globalization, cooperation among our countries becomes all the more vital. Such cooperation will enable us to secure for our countries additional potentials for development and welfare in the face of changing world conditions by pooling our manpower, technology and economic resources.

I am convinced that with your continued support and contribution, the COMCEC will proceed towards new achievements in the future.

I conclude by asking you to convey my best wishes as well as the best wishes of the Turkish people to the brotherly Heads of State and peoples of your countries, hoping that you carry back with you pleasant memories from our country.

I herewith declare the Seventh Session of the COMCEC and the First Ministerial Meeting on Infrastructure and Public Works closed.

Thank you.
